

We  books...

Scottish BookTrust

inspiring readers
and writers

Scottish Book Trust

Creative Writing Competition

For ages 12 – 16

Once upon a time...

Do you enjoy writing? Are you looking for an inspiring activity for the summer holidays? Then why not enter the Scottish Book Trust creative writing competition?

Need some help getting started?

Keith Gray, Scottish Book Trust's Virtual Writer in Residence, is here to help. Log on to the address at the bottom of this poster to view his exclusive video clips all about getting started on your own writing. Plus read exclusive short stories by Keith and other fantastic teen authors – and sign up to have new stories delivered straight to your inbox every other month.

Competition rules

-  You must be aged between 12 and 16 to enter
-  Submitted stories must be your own work and between 1,000 and 2,500 words in length
-  Stories must be submitted in a Word document via email to:
teen@scottishbooktrust.com
-  All entries must include your name, address and email address, as well as your class teacher's/librarian's name and email address and the school contact details

Deadline for entries is 12th December 2008

Visit Scottish Book Trust on Bebo, MySpace and You Tube

Full details at www.scottishbooktrust.com/children-and-young-people/books/stories

